In My opinion, IdentitySkills is an amazing institute if you want to learn new skills. The trainers are really helpful, they mix up theory and lab environments to create a wonderful course content that can make the learning path more simpler for you. In my case even after the training was over, the trainers were there to support all my queries.

I took multiple courses with Identityskills. One thing that was common in all of them that the courses are designed for anyone who want to change their career path and want to learn a new skill from scratch. Explanations were simple and easier to understand, support was great, and they even helped and guided me for job Interviews preparations. I would highly recommend IdentitySkills.
